

FROM CHAOS TO CLARITY

Organizing

The organizing process transforms a space from chaos to clarity allowing you to feel liberated and free so you can focus on what's really important in your life.

It goes hand in hand with cleaning and we do both.

Many times we find that effective organizing involves knowing where to get appropriate storage containers and who will remove the clutter. Busy people appreciate that we not only de-clutter, we assist in having surplus stuff removed by a charitable organization or unusable items taken away. This process will be one of the most liberating things you can do for yourself.

Staging

Staging homes for sale involves transforming a home so it appeals to prospective buyers.

Staging is not a cost, it's an investment.

Staged homes sell faster and for more money by appealing to the broadest number of prospective buyers, using what you already have.

Why Solutions Organizing & Staging?

TESTIMONIALS

Dear Ranka,

Thank you for all your hard work, your professionalism and most of all the promptness with which you turned an empty and bare condo into a warm and welcoming home, ready to sell. In three days the furniture was hand picked, delivered to the property, pictures hung, floors washed and the welcome mat was out! This was faster and more efficient than I ever expected and in turn impressed my clients with "My" Services. To make the expectations even better the first couple to view the home, bought it!

You are a hard working woman Ranka, I would not hesitate to recommend you to others.

Thank you from the bottom of my heart for your dedicated help with the removal of my clutter. It took so many years to accumulate all my clutter and just 5 days to clean it up. My life is now fully organized and I am able to focus on my goals and dreams without clutters of distraction. I would recommend this for everyone. I can't thank you enough.
