Kat Sloan is my new found angel. Being a very busy professional myself I was dreading making the much needed "cold calls" to reach my clients and prospects. At a local networking event Kat was highly recommended by a local, successful business woman. My partner and I decided to hire Kat to put our database together, to contact our many clients and prospects. Wow, what a relief to receive a daily report from Kat and actually get a prospect, or client as a result. I highly recommend Kat to any business people who don't have the time, or skills to make the calls themselves.

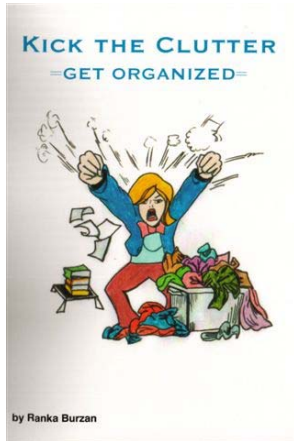

Contact Kat if you too need a newfound angel to help with your business.

Spring and warm weather are here. And with the nicer weather our focus shifts more to outside work; cleaning, planting and organizing. We feel good knowing that our front and backyards are clean and organized.

Here are some simple tips and reminders to keep your garden tools and supplies in working order and accessible.

1. Inspect your lawn mower, clippers and trimmer to make sure they are in working order. Buy gasoline and oil supplies for your tools so you don't have to make multiple trips to the gas station.
2. To save time stop by your garden store and buy soil if needed, annuals or anything else to help you with your gardening.
3. Gather your family and friends to help you power wash your deck, patio, clean the outside windows, and outdoor furniture. Treat them to barbeque or pizza. Have a fun, don't forget to take pictures.

4. Check your siding, roof, and driveway for any work to be done. Avoiding fixing some minor problems now will cost you more in the future.
5. When the weather is not cooperating, you could do some of the organizing and cleaning inside.

6. Check your clothes, there is bound to be a piece of clothing that doesn't fit you or has seen better days. While you are sorting your clothes, throw away that bag full of your family's mismatched socks.
7. Wash or dry clean your winter blankets, comforters and sheets. Check your summer clothes, do they fit, do they need mending etc. Wash and store away your winter clothes.
8. Planning to have guests this summer? Make sure the guest room is clean and organized. Purchase new towels, bedding or decorative soaps and toiletries. Your guests will appreciate your magic touch.

I wish you the best of luck keeping your home and your life clutter free.
